REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

A year and a half ago this Court denied Jeffery Jackson's first 28 U.S.C. § 2255 motion on the merits. CR612-018, doc. 1061, adopted, doc. 1071, certificate of appealability denied, doc. 1571, reconsideration denied, doc. 1571 (11th Cir. Mar. 6, 2015). In this, his second § 2255 motion, doc. 1246, he seeks to exploit the new rule announced in Johnson v. United States, ___ U.S. ___, 135 S. Ct. 2551 (2015), made retroactive by Welch v. United States, ___ U.S. ___, 136 S. Ct. 1257 (2016), and triggering a wave of successive § 2255 filings. See, e.g., In re Fleur, ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 3190539 (11th Cir. June 8, 2016), In re Hines, ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 3189822 (11th Cir. June 8, 2016), and In re

Ricardo Pinder, Jr., ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 3081954 at * 1 (11th Cir. June 1, 2016).

Some of those successive-writ movants have succeeded in knocking on the appellate court's door. See, e.g., In re Hubbard, ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 3181417 at *7 (June 8, 2016) ("Because application of Johnson to § 16(b) as incorporated into the Sentencing Guidelines might render the career-offender residual clause that was applicable at the time Hubbard was sentenced unconstitutional, and because the rule in Johnson is substantive with respect to its application to the Sentencing Guidelines and therefore applies retroactively, this Court grants Hubbard's request for authorization to file a successive § 2255 motion.").

Jackson, too, must knock on the Eleventh Circuit's door. See In re Williams, ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 3460899 (11th Cir. June 24, 2016); In re Colon, No., ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 3461009 (11th Cir. June 24, 2016); In re Robinson, ___ F.3d ___, 2016 WL 1583616 (11th Cir. Apr. 19, 2016). And indeed, he has. In re Jackson, 16-13551 (11th Cir. June 18, 2016) (his successive § 2255 application). Evidently, he was unsure where to seek relief and thus has opted to make a protective filing here.

Given the time constraints illuminated by the Robinson concurrence, 2016 WL 1583616 at * 2 (“As best I can tell, all the prisoners we turned away may only have until June 26, 2016, to refile applications based on Johnson.”), the Clerk should be DIRECTED to simply transfer his June 10, 2016 signature-filed § 2255 motion (doc. 1246 at 13) directly to that court for nunc pro tunc filing.<sup>1</sup> Upon such transfer, the Probation Office shall file any Presentence Investigation Report under seal. While this all may be redundant, transfer ensures that any claim (or unique spin on one) raised here and but not in Jackson will be placed before the Eleventh Circuit. Plus, transfer clears the motion from this Court’s docket.

Whenever a civil action is filed in a court as defined in section 610 of this title or an appeal, including a petition for review of administrative action, is noticed for or filed with such a court and that court finds that there is a want of jurisdiction, the court shall, if it is in the interest of justice, transfer such action or appeal to any other such court in which the action or appeal could have been brought at the time it was filed or noticed, and the action or appeal shall proceed as if it had been filed in or noticed for the court to which it is transferred on the date upon which it was actually filed in or noticed for the court from which it is transferred.

28 U.S.C. § 1631, quoted in Wainwright v. United States, 2016 WL 3452551 at * 2 n. 3 (S.D. Fla., June 24, 2016); see also id. at * 2 n. 2 (“In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1631, the Clerk shall TRANSFER this action to the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit. This Court respectfully requests that the Eleventh Circuit treat Movant’s motion as an application for leave to file a second or successive § 2255 motion.”).

SO REPORTED AND RECOMMENDED, this 29th day of June, 2016.
